BABY SHOW CLOSES TO-DAY.

Interesting Programme Arranged for Juvenile Performers.

Yesterday was the third day of the baby show at the Exposition, and there was no change in the mild temper of the audience. In consequence no scenes or sounds of woe met the ears of the spectators, and every visitor had an enjoyable time. A striking contrast to the other infants on exhibition, however, was your baby, an old hand at the exhibition booth. He is the only negro boy ever entered during the day by the children. The girls who entered him were Alice Smith, Anna and Floyd Right, followed with an impromptu of a whole day in religious songs. Alice Deppe followed with a song and dance, a solo piece performed and given by B. Hartman and Johnna Werner. A Spanish dance and she was preceded by Ruth Moore, accompanied by Pauline Jones, and followed by Lillian Agnes. Agnes Dorell, dancing in a long full skirt with a song, and a comic recitation was rendered by Basie Livingston. Little Nelly, followed by Yvonne, the pianist, and Danny Krehmeyer to close with a solo.

To-day is the closing day of the show, and prizes to the contestants will be awarded by the judges. A length programme has been arranged for the day, and the doors will close at 5 o'clock.

TYPEWRITERS WITH HISTORIES.

Two Machines Which Have Seen Unique Service.

Two typewriters, which fittingly may be termed, respectively, "first in war" and "first in peace," are on exhibition at the local headquarters of the Smith Premier Typewriter Company, No. 51 Elm street.

One of the machines went down with the Maine in February, 1898, and the other was used in the Spanish-American portion of the treaty of Paris, which closed the war with Spain. That which went down with the Maine is a No. 10 machine, serial number 904, and was removed from the ship by the Maine on February 14 by the other Home Guards on the Government and Right Arm. It had been in use on the Maine since December, 1897, and was a split of long service, and a week's immersion in Havana Harbor, still in working order.

The other machine is a No. 4 and belonged to the U.S. Consul at Manila, U.S. Department of State, in September, 1898, for the use of the Peace Commission, and was taken to the Philippines for the nomination. It was used in the preparation of the peace, and then served for writing the Spanish text of the final document, which was concluded at Paris.

As soon as possible after the negotiations had served their purpose for the Government, they were ready and at considerable expense to get the machine to the States.

Syracuse, N. Y., and have since been exhibited in several of the large Eastern cities. They arrived here three days ago, and in the short time since their arrival they are attracting large crowds.

Copies of affidavits from Chief Officer Magruder of the ship which recovered the machine, and of Chief Clerk W. H. Nichols of the U.S. Consulate at Manila, setting forth the history of that which was used in writing the treaty of Paris, are displayed with the machines.

TWICE SENTENCED FOR LIFE.

This Man's Term Would Have Lasted Through Eternity.

Anamosa, Ia., June 8.—Twice sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor, the terms to be served concurrently, J. F. Harrison is now at liberty and has gone to Chicago. The United States Supreme Court relieved him from one sentence and President McKinley, exercising his right of parole, took the final steps necessary to swinging open the prison doors.

The case is without parallel in criminal annals. During the seven years and twenty days during which Harrison had been confined to the penitentiary he had twice been sentenced to hard servitude during his institutional existence, as well as for the life term imposed. He had been an object of curiosity, while he had been an object of prison officials and all visitors. Curiously he always blushed with sympathy, though he had stoutly maintained his innocence all these, and without has been a model prisoner.

Harrison received his unique sentence from the United States courts, one was for aiding and abetting a traitor to his country, the other for a stagecoach robbery.
